Erwin, Tracy win tight races; state voters outspend locals

Vote totals from Rumford and Mexico, coming in last Wednesday morning, proved the difference between victory and defeat in the District 8 state senate race in the election of Tuesday, Nov. 4.

A strong showing by incumbent State Sen. Ed Erwin (D-Rumford) in his hometown area assured him of keeping his seat in a close race with Republican challenger Russell Black, of Wilton. In Rumford, Erwin outpolled Black 2,087-658, and in Mexico he was up 900-292. The final tally for the Senate District 8 seat was Erwin-6,428/Black-5,074.

On the other hand, in the race for Register of Probate, although Democrat Jane Rich piled up big margins in Rumford, Mexico and other towns in the north end of the county, there were not enough votes there to offset her opponent's popularity in the southern portions of the county. From Greenwood south, most towns went for Republican Ted Tracy. In Norway he piled up a 1,038-369 advantage, and in Paris he was up 1,090-394.

The final tally in the Register of Probate race was 8,739 for Tracy and 7,867 for Rich.

Other winners, as reported in last week's Citizen, were incumbent Jeff Mills, in the House District 49 race, over Tom Winsor; incumbent Francis Perry, in the House District 52 race, over Louis Cayer; incumbent Phyllis Erwin, in the House District 53 race, over Randy Hotham; incumbent Joe Walker, in the House District 50 race, over Roland Sutton; and Dana Hanley over Olive Moore, in the House District 51 race for the seat vacated by Sue Bell. In the Register of Deeds (Eastern District) contest, Democrat Gayla Sue Pulkkinen bettered Republican Vern Maxfield, 8,223-5,686, for the seat vacated by Olive Moore.

In the Oxford County Commission (District 3) contest, incumbent Republican Albert Carey easily defeated Democratic challenger Frank York, 3,802-1,429.

In addition to races where there were contests, the following candidates were elected without opposition: R. Donald Twitchell, State Senate (District 5); William F. Perkins, Oxford County Treasurer; Alton L. Howe, Oxford County Sheriff; Janet T. Mills, District Attorney (District 3). All except Mr. Perkins are Democrats.

As reported last week, local towns went along with the state in favoring John McKernan as the next governor. In the 2nd Congressional District, local towns did what the rest of the district did

58% voter turnout in local area towns

Local voters, as usual, turned out in goodly numbers for a non-presidential election. In the 10 towns covered by The Citizen, a total of 58 percent of registered voters went to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 4.

By town, the breakdown of registered voters to actual voters was as follows: Albany, 170/110; Andover, 601/295; Bethel, 1,624/1,064; Gilead, 123/69; Greenwood, 505/271; Hanover, 206/137; Newry, 230/145; Upton, 70/44; West Paris, 833/466; Woodstock, 821/400. Woodstock also had 25 people voting from Milton.

HERE WE GO AGAIN! Last Thursday, although early November—Nov. 6 to be exact—saw the Bethel area buried in white. About six inches fell in the valleys, while Barker Mountain, at Sunday River skiway, recorded eight inches. Local politicians said it was a good thing the snow didn't fall two days earlier, on election day. Driving was hazardous and school was cancelled. Snow fell again yesterday (Tuesday).

First snowfall leaves 6"

The first significant snowfall of the season, last Thursday, left a calling card measuring six inches in and around Bethel. On top of Barker Mountain, at Sunday River Ski Resort, in Newry, skiway personnel measured eight inches.

The first snowfall of the season caused the first snow day of the season for SAD #44, as school was first delayed and then cancelled.

A number of people complained that they still hadn't stacked their wood for the winter. And Nesta Littlefield, in the Bethel Town Office, said she would just as soon be in the South. She seemed to echo the sentiments of most people, who commented that they weren't yet ready for winter.

Jeri Brooks to be honored Dec. 6

The Mundt-Allen Post and Unit #81 of the American Legion and Auxiliary along with the Department of Maine will be hosting a homecoming for Eastern Division Vice President Jeri Brooks on Saturday, Dec. 6, at the Bethel Inn. A social hour, dinner and dancing will begin at 6 p.m. and all friends and Legion and Auxiliary members are invited to attend. Tickets should be reserved by calling Romona Lowe prior ot Nov. 22.

Guests are expected from all twelve eastern states, including national and department officers.

Many area businesses have planned specials for Legion and Auxiliary members who will be spending time here.

Veterans Day observances held

The Jackson-Silver Post of the American Legion, with the assistance of neighboring organizations, held services yesterday (Tuesday) to honor the nation's veterans. The parade down the Gore Road and up Rte. 26 to the memorial in Locke Mills village was held under leaden skies, which began to drop snowflakes soon after the ceremonies were finished.

Leading the parade were marshals Leroy Patten Jr. and Cathryn Lovejoy. They were followed by the post colors and guard: Charlie Mason, Cleveland Lovejoy, Dan Davis, Trina Halacy, Brian Strickland and Lee Ann Patten.

The Telstar Regional High School marching band provided cadence and music, including a moving rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner" after everyone had assembled at the monument.

Sonny Bean began the ceremonies by reading President Reagan's proclamation ordering that fitting ceremonies be held to honor veterans.

Chaplain Rodney Hanscom offered a prayer, and he and Fannie Cummings placed a wreath at the monument and then dropped a wreath into the Alder River.

"Taps" was played and the firing squad, commanded by Harry Swan and consisting of Leland Dunham, Richard Melville and Ken Wakefield, fired three volleys.

After the group marched back to the legion hall, Commander Earl Colby introduced the participants and guests.

WITH THE ASSISTANCE of the Telstar Regional High School marching band, and local patriotic, civic and fraternal organizations, the Jackson-Silver Post of the American Legion conducted Veterans Day services in Locke Mills yesterday (Tuesday). The snow held off until the participants, and onlookers, had made it back to the Legion hall, where services continued.

Newry concerned about unregulated development

The Newry Board of Selectmen yesterday (Tuesday) discussed the possibility of imposing a minimum lot size for multiple family developments in town. Currently the town's building ordinance specifies a one-acre minimum for single and two-family homes, but is mum on the question of multi-family dwellings.

The absence of any specified minimum acreage in the present ordinance worries the selectmen, who notice more and more multi-family housing being developed in the town.

Just last Wednesday the Planning Board approved a plan to build 40 units of townhouses on 18 acres in Coombs Village. (The developer, Nancy Martin, has not indicated when the project would begin.)

The selectmen said they wanted to talk with the Planning Board before formulating any specific proposals to add to the ordinance. At their meeting yesterday, however, they discussed minimum acreages of 8/10-1 acre per unit. They expressed the belief, however, that

Directors' meeting

The board of directors of SAD #44 met in regular session in the library at Telstar Regional High School on Monday evening of this week.

Prior to the business meeting Steven Keane, science teacher at Telstar Regional High School, and six students in the Outdoor Skills Leadership Challenge Course he teaches, made a presentation. The course addresses the character traits of the students and challenges their values through lessons in values clarification, self assessment and group achievement as well as individual achievement. Students are challenged physically on ropes courses, orienteering and map and compass courses, camping experiences and performing canoeing skills. Additionally, challenges will be presented academically through an advanced first aid course, a mini course on ecological sciences and factual information associated with all activities and topics of study. Telstar students Scott Haines, Glori Bolio, Chris Craig, Denise Gauthier, and Chris Hanscom assisted Mr. Keane in the presentation. There are approximately 34 students involved with the course, in two class groups.

The Telstar Middle School field hockey were congratulated by the board on their excellent 8-1-1 season. Team members Lorena Conant, Shilo Hutchins, Amy Hannon, Coach Sally Hannon, and Assistant Coach Elaine Hutchins, whose junior

'Price of Freedom' at Telstar tonight

"The Price of Freedom," a stage production of Telstar Regional High and Middle School, is to be presented tonight (Wednesday) at 7 o'clock in the Telstar auditorium. This production was originally scheduled for presentation last Thursday evening, but was postponed because of weather conditions.

"The Price of Freedom" is a tribute to members of all branches of the armed services, in celebration of Veterans Day, with a special recognition of the U.S. Marine Corps. Visiting officers from various branches of the service will be present to participate. The public is encouraged to attend.

Bethel planning board meets at Telstar tonight

The site of the Bethel Planning Board meeting scheduled for tonight (Wednesday) at 7 o'clock has been shifted to the lecture hall at Telstar Regional High School. The reason for the location change has been attributed to the expectation of a large attendance.

To the voters of District 49
Thank you for your support on Election Day.

Property tax relief needed

State Sen. Don Twitchell (D-Norway) and a special property tax reform committee are to be commended for tackling one of the thorniest taxation issues facing municipalities. The issue is this: How can municipalities fund municipal services and school services while relying increasingly on the property tax?

The answer is clearly that they cannot. This was vividly demonstrated last spring when over 700 SAD #44 voters turned out to protest the increased taxation that the proposed school budget was going to necessitate.

As Sen. Twitchell told The Citizen recently, "We've got to get some relief."

Sen. Twitchell and his committee spell relief: "S..T..A..T..E.. A..I..D..

The committee's recommendations are as follows:

• Immediately increase the state share of education costs to 60 percent, from the current effective rate of 58 percent;

• By fiscal 1991, increase the state share of education costs to 65 percent;

• Immediately increase the municipal share of the state sales tax to 7 percent, from the current 5.1 percent.

There are a number of other recommendations to be discussed in the next Legislature, some of which seem to stand little chance of passage; such as allowing communities to impose their own income or sales taxes. But the basic recommendations are those listed above. If passed, they would give a shot in the arm to the fiscal health of the state's municipalites. (Aside from the relief, the additional state funding would also have the effect of giving the state additional control over local schools, which would have drawbacks as well as benefits.)

Where the money would come from to distribute from state coffers to community coffers has still not been spelled out. Sen. Twitchell notes that the new federal tax law will provide a windfall of $5 to $25 million for Maine state government, because the state's tax codes are already in line with the new federal codes. But even $25 million doesn't go very far these days.

The state government may be able to realize savings from cutting some existing programs or services, or the state can raise additional revenues through the income tax, sales tax, or other taxes. Certainly, if state government is going to get more deeply involved in aiding local government, it would almost seem a certainty that the income tax or sales tax (or both) would have to be increased.

If this were paired with property tax relief, most citizens would likely not complain.

On the other hand, if property taxes are increasingly burdened to fund school programs mandated by the state, it is likely that residents will rise up and demand a property tax-limiting law, such as the "Proposition 2½" passed in Massachusetts a half-dozen years ago.

Not only do state-mandated school programs force local governments to dig deeper into their citizens' pockets, the cutback in federal revenue sharing makes municipal services likewise more expensive for local citizens. Cities and towns in Maine are losing $28.8 million in federal revenue sharing money next year under the Reagan Administration's policy of billions for defense and nothing for local aid.

The boards of selectmen of the various towns of SAD #44 will meet in Greenwood tonight with an official of the Maine Municipal Association to discuss the possibilities of getting some relief for the burdened property tax. The selectmen are, quite rightly, worried about what ever-higher property taxes will do to the ability of people to live in rural Maine.

Every municipal official, and every taxpayer, will be watching closely next legislative session to see what becomes of Sen. Twitchell's tax reform proposals.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

From Mars or Mass.?

Once upon a time, in a small town located in a mountainous region of a beautiful land, a strange and destructive green virus insidiously crept through the region. This green virus seemed to trouble only those who owned parcels of land located in the proximity of the mountains. Some of those in the region succumbed. Once the green virus got a hold on its victim, a veritable fever resulted. The only way to break the fever seemed to be to get rid of the land. Once the land was passed on, strange projections erupted from the earth, changing the land's appearance.

Next came an infestation of alien microbes swarming through those strange projections and, contrary to the usual growth of microbes, these proliferated most abundantly during cold weather, especially when snow was on the ground. Most peculiar of all, they actually expected the local inhabitants to welcome them with open arms. If finally got to the point where these creatures could be found behind every tree and rock (where the ground was bare), and under every leaf. Once they had thoroughly permeated the area, the local scenery and citizenry palled. They deserted the strange projections and looked for a new place to infest and destroy.

Woe to those who live near the mountains and have land and no immunity! They're prime targets of microbic harassment.

THOUGHTS FROM THE
Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, is endeavoring to frequently bring to you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

"When Israel was a child, I loved him."

In all the Bible, we cannot find a more human and compassionate God than the One who speaks in Hosea 11:1-11. Other Bible writers may portray God as a mighty warrior, an inscrutable king or an awesome and distant deity. Hosea hears the poignant plea of a deeply caring parent.

In Hosea's time, the people not only disobeyed the rules God laid down for the well-being of the human family: they even seemed to flout the Parent's love: "The more I called Israel, the further they went from me," God says. "My people are determined to turn from me."

Our stereotype of the Old Testament God as a God of wrath and harsh judgment might lead us to expect this Parent to write the kid off as a failure, to let the Assyrians wipe Israel out. But Hosea's God loves too much to let Israel, whom in tenderness God sometimes calls Ephraim, suffer utter destruction. "How can I hand you over, O Israel! My heart recoils within me; I will not carry out my fierce anger For I am God and not man, the Holy One in your midst, and I will not come to destroy."

So, after a time of suffering in exile, Hosea predicts, God "will roar like a lion," all her children will come back from the lands to which they have been scattered, and "I will settle them in their homes," says this nurturing Lord.

What sadness we can feel when reading this chapter! Yet what remorse and penitence can be ours when we realize that this wayward Israel/Ephraim is often us! When we catch ourselves living as if God does not love us—when we find ourselves doubting that God cares how we live and whether we put other gods before him—let us remember this picture from 750 years before Christ.

And let us listen again to the voice of One who cries: "It was I who taught Ephraim to walk; I took them up in my arms. I bent down to them and fed them How can I give you up, O Ephraim!"

West Parish Congregational Church

THIS WEEK AT THE
Moses Mason House

Approximately 80 persons braved last Thursday's storm to attend the November monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society and heard Margaret Joy Tibbetts, society trustee board chairman, provide some insights into the history of Grafton, an Oxford County town which flourished briefly a century ago, but today is only a distant memory. First settled as letter A, No. 2 (also known as "Holmes"), the town was incorporated on March 19, 1852. Miss Tibbetts emphasized that lumbering possibilities were the chief attractions for the early settlers. later farming was possible, but due to the town's high elevation killing frosts were always a constant threat to agriculture. The population of Grafton rarely wavered much beyond a hundred as most of the following census figures indicate: 1850 (108), 1860 (111), 1870 (94), 1880 (115), 1890 (98), 1900 (81), 1910 (64). By 1919 the population had so declined that the town surrendered its charter. Apparently, according to Miss Tibbetts, when the timber was gone, the town's attraction as a place to live disappeared as well. In 1941 the last resident died and subsequently all buildings were demolished to prevent them from becoming fire hazards. Extensive planting by the Brown Company of Berlin returned the land to the wilderness it formerly had been. Grafton, according to Miss Tibbetts, once had its own social world (although modest by the standards of the day) where dances were especially popular. It also possessed a town library which in 1910 boasted 500 volumes. This was a genuine pioneer community in Miss Tibbetts' view and it was had work to eke out a living here. But families named brown, Brooks, Swan, Bartlett, Lane, Davis, Eastman, Grover, Howard, Abbott, Tenny, Otis, and Taylor, did, so for several generations.

Miss Tibbetts' presentation was followed by some slides of old photographs of Grafton which dramatically illustrated its remote and desolate location.

During the business portion of the meeting, President Alden Kennett announced that the next meeting would be held on Dec. 4 and feature the annual Christmas program, which among other attractions will include two films, "Yes, Virginia There is a Santa Claus" and "Christmas on Grandfather's Farm." The president also urged anyone interested in serving on a committee to let him or Society Director Stanley R. Howe know. Curator of Collections Randall H. Bennett announced that the "Artifact of the Month" is believed to be an Indian stone pestle donated by Richard Fraser of East Poland. Director Howe reported on the very successful oral history workshop hosted by the society on Nov. 1. He also reported that the society was nearing this years membership goal of 700, urging that gift memberships be considered so that the goal would be reached before Jan. 1.

Persis Post, chairman of the Special Projects Committee, announced that the refreshments for the evening included among other traditional delights, "election cake." A social hour followed the program.

SAD #44 BOARD MEETS

varsity squad also enjoyed a fine season, were present.

The middle school soccer team captains, Nate Buckman, Jeremiah Bolen, and Bruce Korhonen, presented Carroll Higgins, assistant principal and athletic director at Telstar, with the trophy emblematic of their winning the championship of the Little Andy Valley League. Coach Dan Hannon commented on the accomplishments of this year's squad and the fine work of Tony Berryment, assistant coach.

The directors accepted the evaluation report of Superintendent of Schools Dewaine Craig as prepared by the board's Personnel Committee. This year, for the first time, the annual evaluation process ultilized input received from questionnaires distributed to staff members of the district as well as members of the board of directors. The evaluation lists as positive achievements during the past year the continued refinement of Mr. Craig's "people oriented," "team management" leadership style. Also that he is held in high regard by staff members, building staff morale and cooperativeness to a high point. Mr. Craig is also credited by the staff with improving overall academic programs. Board members felt that he had done a good job in budget management, keeping SAD #44 in compliance with state requirements, and new staff recruitment. The Woodstock school project was noted as a positive accomplishment as were improvements realized in staff evaluation, public relations and task delegation.

Public relations and the delegation of responsibility were also noted as needing additional improvement. The general category of "communications ability" was the area noted, more than any other, as needing improvement. Specifically noted were more finesse in dealing with applicants/new hires, more thought and diplomacy in responding to questions or comments, and projecting a more positive image about less than ideal issues (for instance, the budget as finally approved at the district budget meeting). To quote from the report, "It would appear the finesse, tact, patience and smoothness of a skilled politician are attributes that would also serve a superintendent well."

The evaluation report also states that another area suggesting improvment is delegation of responsibility, such as relinquishing some committee meeting to other administrators, and that more responsibilities be delegated to the administrative assistant.

To quote again from the evaluation report, the superintendent "has done a commendable job in meeting and consistently exceeding the basic duties and responsibilities of his job description. A survey of board and staff of SAD #44 rates Dewaine's performance as 'outstanding' more often than not on essentially all aspects of his job functions. He is held in very esteem by all who work for him. He is viewed as a gracious gentleman, a creative administrator, a thorough professional, and a friend who shows genuine concern for the positions, idea and expectations of those with whom he is involved. Dewaine is consistent and tenacious in his efforts to keep the board and his staff on task and on target in leading the school system in the directions of improvement. Quality education of our children is his most obvious foremost concern."

In other business the board took action on the following matters concerning personnel: approved Joanne K. Kingsley as a full-time bus driver; tabled until Nov. 24 any action on the appointment of a part-time speech therapy teacher; accepted resignations of Joan Crockett as part-time custodian for the portable building as Crescent Park School, and of Kelly Scott as coach of junior varsity girls' basketball at the high school. The directors approved a revised job description for the position of Telstar kitchen manager.

The board indicated its willingness to release all or portions of the present Woodstock Elementary School complex to the town of Woodstock at such time as determination is made that it is no longer necessary for educational purposes by SAD #44.

The directors agreed to submit to the Maine Department of Educational and Cultural Services a "Request for Approval of School Bus Purchases" for units to be included in the SAD #44 for the 1988 fiscal year. Approval is sought for two 72-passenger buses and one 48-passenger. Net estimated costs of the units are $41,500 each for the 72-passenger and $36,000 for the 48-passenger. The requested buses would replace three 1974 66-passenger vehicles.

Board member Sheryl Wilbur of Woodstock was not present at the Monday session.

The next regular meeting of the board is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 24 in the library at Telstar Regional High School.

WINTER DRIVING TIPS

Motorists are advised to prepare themselves and their vehicles for the winter driving days ahead.

"More dangerous than frequent periods of rain or fog in late autumn are those times when sudden temperature drops freeze roadway surfaces on bridges and underpasses," said Col. Allan H. Weeks, chief of the Maine State Police.

Persons traveling should stay aware of outside temperatures and, when in doubt, slow down when approaching bridge crossings, Col. Weeks said.

In addition, drivers are advised to have their vehicles winterized and in good mechanical shape before the onset of ice and snow. If needed, wiper blades should be replaced, exhaust systems checked, tires looked at, and, if the number "11" is cut out on the motor vehicle inspection sticker, have the car or truck inspected.

"The state police also suggest an emergency kit be kept in the vehicle, containing jumper cables, flares or reflectors, a flashlight, first aid kit, a blanket, some sand (in a container), and some basic automotive tools," said Col. Weeks.

THE BETHEL AREA HEALTH CENTER held its open house Sunday to show the community its brand new facility. The open house attracted a large number of people anxious to see what the health center looked like since leaving its cramped quarters on Main Street. It is now in the remodeled A&P building, on Railroad Street.

TERM PAPERS ON DISPLAY AT NORWAY LIBRARY

Currently on display at the Norway Memorial Library are five term papers prepared by Oxford Hills High School students in last spring's American Studies class taught by Myra McLarey and Stephen Ray.

The papers are all written in diary form and are set in the 1800s, with one exception. The authors are Don Medd, Ted Coulombe, Tracy Marcotte, Jessica Grover and Amy Drigotas. All the papers are well researched and rich in historical detail. They will be on public display until late-November.

RUST IS OXFORD HILL'S STUDENT-OF-THE-MONTH FOR OCTOBER

Brian Rust has been selected as student of the month for October at Oxford Hills High School, South Paris. This award is sponsored by the Oxford Hills Rotary Club.

Brian is the son of Norman and Betty Rust of North Waterford. This student of the month recognition is the latest of several awards Brian has received as a result of his academic and creative talents. He was selected to attend the Gould Academy Summer Program for the summer of 1985. Last summer, as a result of competitive testing and creative writing skills, Brian participated in the Maine Summer Humanities Prgram at Bowdoin College and the Telluride Foundation Summer Program at Cornell University. These programs provided the opportunity to study with many of the top students in Maine and the nation.

Last month Brian was named a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition. This honor is achieved by approximately one per cent of over one million students who enter National Merit competition.

Brian has been active in both band and drama club. He has played principal characters in several drama productions. His present plans are to attend college next fall with his first choice being Oberlin College in Oberlin, Ohio.

minimum acreages per unit could be waived in the case of clustered developments, which would leave substantial open space around the buildings.

The selectmen also discussed the recurring problem of solid waste disposal. Last week Bethel officials announced they would charge Newry $20,000 next year for using the Bethel landfill—up from $12,500 this year.

Newry officials accepted the increase in fees without complaint but worried that time is running out for the Bethel landfill. "The Bethel dump is filling up fast," said Selectman Roger Hanscom. "We've got to do something."

What to do for the future is still an open question—one to be handled by the Solid Waste Committee. However, the committee is currently down to two members. Anyone wishing to serve on this committee should contact the selectmen.

and voted overwhelmingly for incumbent Republican Olympia Snowe over Democratic challenger Richard Charette.

And local towns were in step with the majority of the state in voting to ban mandatory local measured service and make a technical change to the state constitution.

However, local voters had much tighter grips on purse strings than voters in other parts of the state when it came to the bond issues. Among the 10 towns in The Citizen's circulation area, the only bond issues approved were $6 million for school construction and $5 million for wildlife habitat purchase. [While these facts were reported in the vote tabulation in last week's Citizen, the text of the article incorrectly stated only one bond issue received approval locally.]

County-wide, voters liked the $12 million sewer bond and the $7.7 million U. of M. bond, in addition to the two bonds favored locally.

When all the votes were tabulated at the state level, the $16 million prison bond was added to the list of indebtedness, as was the $6 million asbestos bond. The only two bond issues that failed statewide were $10 million to help coastal communities and $3.1 million for National Guard armories.

VETERANS DAY OBSERVED

Alanson Cummings read "In Flanders Fields," noting that the two men for whom the local post is named—Harold Jackson and Bill Silver—both lost their lives in World War I, like so many buried in Flanders fields.

State Sen. Ed Erwin (D-Rumford), the guest speaker, said, "Veterans, today's and tomorrow's, are the mortar that holds together this nation."

A benediction was offered by Rev. Roland Lord. Refreshments were served by the Auxiliary.

Also taking part in the services were Norway members of the World War I Barracks Auxiliary, the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cubs and Brownies, from Bethel, the Daughters of Union Veterans, of Bryant Pond, State Rep. Phyllis Erwin (D-Rumford), and members of the Mundt-Allen Post of the American Legion.

Following the ceremonies at the legion hall, eight legionnaires went to Ledgeview Memorial Home, West Paris, to visit the 13 veterans staying there. On the way to the home, they stopped to visit Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clifford, in Bryant Pond. He is one of only two World War I veterans in the Jackson-Silver Post—the other being Alanson Cummings.

Blood drive Nov. 17th

The Bethel Area Health Center is sponsoring the Red Cross Blood Drive this year, on Monday, Nov. 17. Volunteers will be calling those people who have previously donated in order to set up appointments. The drive will be at the West Parish Congregational Church and will begin at noon, in order to accommodate those who wish to give blood during their lunch hours.

A lot of misinformation seems to be prevalent regarding donating blood and contracting AIDS. AIDS cannot be acquired by donating blood, health officials emphasize. All equipment that is used to draw blood is sterile and non-reusable, including the needles. The site on the skin from which blood is drawn is thoroughly cleansed by staff, who draw blood only from healthy volunteer donors.

What good is a blood donor? A blood donor is good for: new mothers needing a transfusion; people who go through windshields; somebody with leukemia; people being operated on; hemophiliacs; someone undergoing dialysis while awaiting a kidney transplant; people who are badly burned; cancer patients; people having open heart surgery; anybody any age with bleeding ulcers; the very tired with severe anemia. A blood donor is good for life.

High Street
West Paris

By VIVA WHITMAN

Thursday morning, and a snowy one. Haven't measured the snow outside, but it looks as though there might be at least four inches or more. Probably more, as the snow is still falling hard as I sit down to type. Am doing my writing a little early this week as I have to go to Bangor tomorrow, if I can get there, for some new-fangled x-rays. Don't imagine they will help much, but all I can do is do what the doctor wants.

As Peggy was home for the past week, we have played Trionomoes several times, and Friday evening was one of the evenings. Did the same Saturday night as we weren't up to going to the anniversary meeting of Oxford Pomona at Norway. I hope they had a good turnout and a good meeting.

Did some sewing on Sunday, trying to get some done for Christmas. Seems as if every time I plan to sew I get sick or need to babysit for Nonie. Got what I could done and still have quite a bit to do. When I'm not sewing I knit or crochet. That keeps me busy and out of mischief.

Peggy went to West Bethel on Sunday for the forenoon to see her daughter and family. Rusty was home for the last time before going to Pittsburgh, Pa., to start work as manager of a brand new store. He has done a wonderful job and is willing to go where they need him most, so the family won't see him for a while. Samantha was home, also, from her work, and it gave Peggy a chance to see them before she has to go south later this month.

We had been in Bethel on Saturday afternoon, visiting our brother and wife, Bryce and Barbara Yates, up Sunday River Road. They have nearly completed their new home and it is lovely. I hadn't seen it at all and was glad of the chance to go visit. Their granddaughter, Eve, was visiting them, so that was another nice surprise. Bryce and Barb lost their old home to a fire when they were on a trip, so have had to live elsewhere until the new house was finished enough for them to move in. I am sure they will enjoy the results.

I spent the most of Sunday sewing as much as I could. Had called to let Nonie know that we had had a chance to get bunkbeds for when the girls were up and would need a mattress that they had down there. They came with it after supper and Nonie helped make up the beds.

Peggy had gone to see Myrna and Bernard White, in Auburn, for the evening and had good reason for doing it, as she had an eye appointment the next morning. The funny part of it was that she appeared here a little after noontime on Monday as she had found by looking at her calendar that she had another appointment in Norway at 1 o'clock. She went for that and then was on her way back to Massachusetts for a couple of weeks. It will soon be time for her to head south, and if they are getting this snow up there, I bet she wishes she was already there.

Went to South Paris on Monday to get checks cashed and pay some bills. Also stopped at Community Services to sign up for fuel assistance, but they had had all the applications they could take, so we went home and got busy doing other things.

Went to Community Services early on Tuesday morning to sign up where we couldn't on Monday. There were several waiting and it wasn't quite 8:30. It didn't take long to get the number they could take and then folks were turned down for the day and had to come back another time. We were glad we went early even if it did mean a long wait. Got home just in time for lunch.

Russell worked outside in the afternoon and I did what I could inside. There is always enough to keep us busy doing something.

Wednesday was our day for going to North Bridgton for an appointment with my doctor who tries his best to keep me going with treatments etc. Was disappointed not to have information on what is wrong in my throat, but that is life. Have to try again. Have had a bad-looking throat for a number of weeks and all the saltwater gargles haven't touched it. Hope I find out soon what is causing it to be the way it is. It gets sore then gets over it some but still looks bad, so I don't know the answer as to what is wrong.

I don't know whether this weather will keep West Paris Grange from having their dedication of the chairlift or not. Chester Hayes, of New Hampshire, was to be there to help on the dedication. I had hoped to be there and see the goings-on, but having to be in Bangor in the morning has put an end to that. If Russell goes and they do have the dedication, I have asked him to add to my writing telling about it.

West Paris Grange has done a lot to accomplish this task, and are going on to do other projects. The Grange is selling chances on a quilt made by Katie Tamminen and chances are 50 cents each, or three for a dollar. It is a beautiful quilt and was in their exhibit at Fryeburg Fair.

Also, on Dec. 13 there will be a "what-not" crafts and food sale at the Grange hall. Anyone wishing to sell items at this sale should contact one of the members to see what the cost of space will be. However, I can tell you that Mary told me it wouldn't be much and one might sell items for Christmas. The reason for changing the sale from Nov. 1 to Dec. 13 was for the benefit of senior citizens who don't get their checks till the 3rd of each month. The drawing of the quilt will be on Dec. 18. I guess I am mixing this up some, but I hope you will excuse me for it. The sale on the 13th will start at 9 in the morning and go till 1 in the afternoon. Come and see what there is for sale. It is all for a good cause.

Got to go pack my suitcase and hope my daughter gets up today to get me and can get me to Bangor tomorrow morning. Hope all of you are ready for this snow. Russell put on snowtread tires for me yesterday and gravel in the truck so hope I am as near ready as I can be. Drive carefully on this first snow. It is usually the worst.

West Paris Grange

West Paris Grange observed Visiting Officers Night and Musical Night Thursday evening, Nov. 6, with 36 people present.

The storm made traveling conditions dangerous and many that were invited to take part didn't show up. However, those who did come enjoyed a good meeting and an excellent Musical Program.

Sister Bertha Benoit, of West Paris Grange, was in charge of the program and did a fine job getting up a program.

Gordon and Clara Gartley, from Lisbon Center, chief deputies of the Maine State Grange, were present for Musical Night, as Gordon does a fine job with the saxophone.

Another unusual part of the program was music by the Bill Bedard Family. Mrs. Bedard, as I undertood it, is a granddaughter of famous Mellie Dunham, of many years ago. Mellie Dunham lived in Norway and was an old-time fiddler. At one time he was invited to go play for Henry Ford, which he did.

The plans had been to dedicate the new chairlift of West Paris Grange at this meeting, but traveling made it impossible for those taking part in the dedication to be present. It was decided to dedicate it at a later date.

The Greenwood Fire Department will meet Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 6:30 p.m. for a training session.

Louis Martin has returned to Chapel Valley following some time spent at Stephens Memorial Hospital after a heart attack.

John Mills celebrated his 60th birthday on Nov. 3.

About 30 people attended the oyster stew supper at the Greenwood fire station Sunday, Nov. 2.

My apologies for not getting news in lately. I've had a strep infection and minor surgery during the last two weeks, and I just didn't have gumption enough to get out of my own way. Hopefully they will improve.

John and Lorraine Mills were in Norway Saturday and picked up Geraldine Shimamura who had left her car for Bill to use and needed a ride home. She treated them to lunch at the Country Way.

By MARTA CLEMENTS

Our Halloween parade was its usual success. The parade route was lined with parents and friends. This was followed by refreshments and games.

Grade 2 bobbed for apples; Grade 3 had a Jack O'Lantern contest. They saved their seeds and at the a later date they fried and ate them. The 6th Grade told ghost stories.

We are now preparing our November activities. Rank cards have gone home and parent conferences are being scheduled for Monday, Nov. 17.

Some of the younger generation were actually glad to see our storm of Nov. 6. It was a good snow for building snowmen, snowforts and snow sculptures, and Mr. Koch followed up on this for his Friday activity.

We are all preparing Thanksgiving decorations. The Kindergarten and 1st Grade are working on their annual Thanksgiving celebration. The Kindergarten will be the Indians and the 1st Grade the Pilgrims. The Kindergarten has been continuing its math work with patterns. This week they made pattern designs for T-shirts.

Grade 2 is preparing for the annual breakfast at school. All will help mix up the various pancake batters. Mr. Van Nest will be the chef and then all will enjoy the pancakes, juice and milk. They have been studying the basic food groups. What a delicious way to learn!

Grade 3 has lots of ongoing activities. This week's cursive writers-of-the-day were: Renee Pratt, Liberty Woodworth, Jason Bradeen and Jodi Gilpatrick. Their author-of-the-month is E.B. White, and they are listening to his last book, "The Trumpet of the Swan." A spelling contest has just been started. Anyone who gets five 100's in a row will receive a book from either the book fair or current book club order. Watch for 3rd Grade spelling champs in the future.

Grade 4 had a party to celebrate the mastery of addition facts. In science they are beginning the unit on electricity.

The 5th Graders have been creating a game called Social Studies Baseball. They are making up questions from each chapter studied and will use the game to help review important facts and concepts. Their teacher will be the umpire!

Grade 6 is adding the study of the eye—"Images and Refraction"—for science class. They have been doing lots of creative work in art. We're hoping a Thanksgiving mural will soon replace the neat Halloweeen mural they did last month.

The Scholastic Book Fair will be set up on the 13th and will be available through conference day. We have received a good selection of books and we're looking forward to the fair.

North Paris

By EVELINE B. VATCHER

Halloween is in the past and only one trick or treater called at the Vatchers. We are in the "Holler" a little bit away from the more populated part of town.

The ham supper was a sell out and a clean out. We were sorry to turn 10 people away but we ran out of food. Several who promised food, didn't bring it so the help went home for supper. Mrs. Lois Ellingwood played the piano during the supper hour and everyone enjoyed it.

Joseph Vatcher, president of the Community Club, would like to thank all the ladies for their delicious dishes for all the suppers this season, the loyal friends, far and near who patronized the suppers and the members for all their work, we enjoyed the foklks who joined us every months and we will look forward to seeing you in the spring of 1987. Hopefully we will have a new parking lot across from the hall and that will be better for all concerned. God bless you all.

Harlan Abbott had to lay his big dog "Brute" away as he had been struck by a car or truck.

Warren Abbott went to Montana for big game hunting. We wish him luck.

Callers at Lawrences: Karen Merrill and James Edgar Coffin, Arnold Coffin, Joe Vatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott. Norman can sit down to eat now and walk about some. Back operations take a long time to heal.

Evelyn Chamberlain and Beryl Oja went to Bethel to a family party Nov. 1.

Robert Anderson Sr., Burlington, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fucarile, Woburn, Mass., spent the day Tuesday with their brother-in-law, Joe Vatcher and Eveline, and the men folks went hunting. No luck. David Anderson spent the weekend but the rabbits were too quick for him. Robert Anderson Sr. has a trailer in Bridgton.

Eveline has a cactus and she has named it Four Seasons instead of Christmas. It has had two beautiful blossoms this week. Two blossoms come at a time about six weeks apart. It has been on the porch all summer but still it had blossoms.

Didn't we all have a beautiful snow storm? It looked a lot like Christmas.

Eveline Wishes luck to all the hunters and hopes it will be a safe hunting seasn.

Sympathy is extended to the family of John A. Estes. There have been three deaths in the family since the New Year.

By COLISTA MORGAN

On Monday morning, with no sun and a mist soft and deep outside, a chickadee spoke to me. I rolled up my shade to see the pond and the woodland beyond. The temperature was in the 40s, but the dampness of the air made it feel much lower. The trees, so colorful a month ago, were bare. They have summarized their annual growth. Their leaves, whether colorful or not, will go back to the soil to become mulch and leaf mold, to nourish future growth. Nature is thrifty and a hoarder.

Over the years this pond has had a special private quality. Viewing it from the window or any place outside I have developed an intimate relationship with it.

So on this early dawn once more, I looked at the view to note what I could see and remember.

At my kitchen window this morning, I noticed a dark movement coming this way in the middle of the pond. My first thought—"A boat." Looking again—"Not with antlers." A moose! I hurried for my jacket and camera.

He was headed for my shore and I hoped he would land where I could get a good picture. But no: it was the "work hour go." Cars stopped, backed up and went on. Mr. Moose became nervous but kept swimming straight up the channel. When he was opposite me I snapped a picture. But with the darkness and mist I have little hope that it will be good.

This enormous creature, with an outrageously long muzzle, rubbery lips, humped back, and clumsy gait, which has appeared several times, will never win any beauty prize. A moose of this size, with tremendous antlers, whiskered bell under the neck, short body and disproportionately long front legs gives the impression that he is a survivor from remote geological time.

To see him swimming was a startling surprise. I had seen them browse on twigs, bark and shrubs and wade out into the pond for waterlilies. Its massive head dips underwater so rubbery lips can pluck the bottom plants from the pond's bed. I wondered: for what was this one searching in deeper water? Was he planning to cross the pond or was he out for a morning swim? Either choice, he swam up-pond and disappeared from sight. I hope he'll return on a better day and make me a call.

Children's Center

Children and staff had a fun and very busy Halloween. After the parade through town, the group went back to the center to enjoy such activites as face painting, bobbing for apples, and pumpkin carving.

The staff thanks parents Bonnie Gammon, Arlene Heath and Sally Westleigh for volunteering their time. Thanks also to Tammy Hansen for the delicious pumpkin cake, the Bethel Citizen for taking the photo and the Bethel Legion for the money donation to buy the children some Halloween treats.

Recent activities have been centered around staying healthy. The staff and children have talked at length about good health habits.

Tri-Town Rescue

The auxiliary is selling raffle tickets for a Thanksgiving baskets to be drawn Nov. 20, at Penley's Mill. Contact any member for tickets. The next auxiliary function is the joint Christmas party planned for December.

Training will be the first Wednesday in December, combining training for November and December. The topic will be a review of bleeding and bandaging with a series of practice stations.

Tri-Town members are reminded of the I.V. and MAST course to be offered in Bethel by the BEARS Thursday night. Two C.E.U. credits will be offered for this training session.

Safety Tip of the Week

Tri-Town has distributed vials the size of a prescription drug container specifically to contain medical information that might be neded when an emergency arrives. The idea is a simple one. When you have plenty of time, list your name, insurance information, a brief medical history and a list of current medications. This list has come in handy in crisis situations when people are apt to forget some of the medications or not mention another illness, like diabetes, that has an affect on the current situation. This information is stored in the refrigerator or in the glove compartment of the car for easy access.

Hanover

By DONNA WORCESTER

Voting for the Nov. 4 elections took place at the Hanover Town House. Rose Hutchins and Frank Worcester were ballot clerks for the Democrats. Marsha Stearns and Lorraine Gallant were ballot clerks for the Republicans.

Election warden was Barbara Merrill and deputy election warden was Warren Stearns. Hanover Town Clerk Carrilee Pitcher was also on duty at the town house all day. About 135 Hanover residents voted during the 11 hours the polls were open.

Cub Scout Pack 509 started their meetings with a get-together meeting at Den Leader Donna Worcester's home in Hanover, on Nov. 11. Regular meetings will be at Rumford Point Church, as in past years, on Tuesday afternoons after school. Any boys in grades 2, 3, or 4 are welcome to join. For more information, call 364-7895.

Over six inches of snow brought out snowplows and sand trucks for the first time this season on Nov. 6. Due to slippery roads, schools closed at noon for Hanover children who attend school in Rumford. Other area schools were closed all day.

By ARLINE BERNIER

About three inches of snow accumulated locally Thursday Nov. 6. There was enough of it by pre-dawn to cancel most schools south of Augusta.

Although outsiders might consider such a time as a hardship and as being snowed in, there is an exhliration, a sense of excitement and freedom when one is snowed out from his job or routine. One young couple went hunting together for a couple of hours and it was such an unexpected opportunity and the first for a long time that it was refreshing and a day to remember.

Violet Bernier and son Jake of Woburn arrived Thursday for the weekend. She said the traveling got hazardous in Gray and continued through Bethel. The road through Grafton Notch was the best of the trip.

Forty-four citizens cast ballots at the election Tuesday, including five absentee ballots. The election was held in the new town office with Mary Lavallee and Arline Bernier as ballot clerks. Many expressed favor and compliments concerning the building and said they were glad the town had acquired same.

Chamber music group plays at Gould Thursday

The talented group of musicians from southern New Hampshire who call themselves the Apple Hill Chamber Players will return to the Bethel area this Thursday (Nov. 13) for a concert at Gould Academy, at 7:30 p.m.

The ensemble, in its 15th season, offers a repertoire of remarkable range and depth. Most recently, in addition to a growing number of concerts at places such as Alice Tully Hall/Lincoln Center, the group has received a major grant from Chamber Music America for its residency programs.

Apple Hill will give a series of 17 concerts throughout New England this winter.

Apple Hill's concert will be at the Bingham Auditorium, on Church Street, and is part of Gould Academy's yearly performing arts series. It is funded, in part, by a grant from the Bingham Betterment Fund, the New England Foundation for the Arts, and the Maine Arts Commission, through the New England Foundation for the Arts. Admission is free.

Chamber of Commerce

The executive board of directors of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce met at 4 p.m. on Nov. 4 at the Casco Northern Bank and the following issues were discussed.

Robin Zinchuk attended a two day chamber leaders workshop at Sugarloaf Ski Area (Nov. 2 and 3) sponsored by the Maine Associated of Chambers of Commerce Executives. She felt it was a great learning experience and there are a number of resources that can be called upon. One of the things the local chamber would like to consider is becoming of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. Along with the meetings there were social activities that gave everyone an opportunity to have fun as well.

Bill Riley attended a summary meeting of the Big E on Oct. 23. Over one million attended the fair and the overall feelings were that things went real well. Next year's plans are already being discussed.

A 50/50 raffle fundraiser will be ready for the Christmas holidays. One thousand tickets at a price of $1 each or six for $5. The drawing will be on Dec. 7 which is also the annual Christmas Tree Lighting on the Common at 6:30 p.m. Also on that day the inns will have an open house from 1 to 4 p.m.

The Boston Ski Show is Nov. 13-16. Bill Riley would be happy to take down any brochures for anyone interested. Please have them at the chamber office by Wednesday, Nov. 12.

Potluck supper for the U.S. Ski Team on Dec. 3 at Sunday River—South Ridge Center, 5:30-7:30.

Business after-hours will be at the Sudbury Inn on Nov. 20, 5-7 p.m. to welcome new chamber members. Come and join the fun!

Sunday, Dec. 14, is the second annual Inn Familiarization Tour. Meet in front tof the Chapman Inn at 1 p.m. where either a bus or a car pool will be formed. Bring a bag supper as it will will take time to see all the great plans. If interested call Steve Wight, 824-2410, or Robin Zinchuk, 824-2282.

Christmas decorating contest will be held the weekend before Christmas. Time will be posted at a later date.

Sunday River and Mt. Abram are offering a mid-week ski pass to chamber members only, at a cost of $250 per pass. This is also good vacation holidays. Please contact Wende Gray, 824-2187, if you are interested.

As you can see the chamber is keeping themselves busy and it hopes that anyone who is currently a member is considering joining in the near future. It would be appreciated by both the chamber and the community. The next meeting of the chamber's board of directors will be Thursday, Nov. 13, 7:30 a.m. at the Casco Northern Bank. All will be welcomed, along with their ideas.

EBS-CPS happenings

Tammy Hanson helped out in Mrs. Cohen's Kindergarten class with a great Halloween lesson. Judy Coolidge helped make a yummy class treat. Maria Perkins helped the kindergartners with their writing, and Becky Shaw and Jennie Filmore assisted in class.

In Miss Newcomb's Grade 5, Susie Bowie and Sue Wight did an art project with the class. They made very colorful spider webs, which are now on display in the hall.

Mrs. Corduan's 4th Grade has received its first batch of penpal letters from the 4th graders at Vinalhaven Island. The CPS youngsters are writing back this week and hope to exchange letters once a month.

In Mrs. Coolidge's Grade 2 class, the students had fun with pumpkins on Halloween. First they guessed how many seeds were in each pumpkin and then counted them—by 10's. Then they carved faces on the pumpkins. They finished by roasting, and eating, the seeds. Then they wrote thank-you notes to Mr. and Mrs. Grover for the pumpkins.

The EBS/CPS students and staff, in honor of the nationwide "School Volunteers' Day," which is today (Wednesday), wish to thank all the VIP coordinators and volunteers. The coordinators are Kathie McCluskey, Marguerite Graham and Vicki Rackliffe. ## So. Woodstock

By OLIVE DAVIS

Hunting season is on as of Nov. 1. Be sure what you are shooting at before pulling the trigger.

Esther and Olive were in Berlin shopping Wednesday. It was one of our few beautiful days.

Saturday was a good day also. I was happy to have my wood in the shed and in the afternoon my niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews, Bridgton, visited and put the double windows on. Esther Davis came up and was her usual good help.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks came up Saturday evening and we three went to Oxford Pomona's 111th anniversary at Norway.

Mrs. Kay Billings and Eva Twitchell were in Lewiston on business Monday.

Ellsworth Hathaway has had oodles of visitors at his home and he appreciates it. This makes the time shorter while he is recuperating.

A lot of hobgoblins, witches, etc., were out on Halloween night, calling at different places. I hope there was no harm for the little ones who were out. It is scary to take them to so many places because of the attitudes of many grown-ups. I have always felt it saver to go to your relatives or the true friends—than to go to strangers' homes. I know they like to do it but I believe in safety first for these cute children.

Goldie Mason has been teaching nutrition classes at South Paris this year. She is on the last one Nov. 17 which will be followed by a banquet. Goldie has been doing this for three years now and enjoys the work.

WREATHMAKING WORKSHOP

There will be a wreathmaking workshop at Telstar Regional High School on Monday, Nov. 24, from 7 to 9 p.m., in the woodworking shop.

Julie Daye and Danna Nickerson will be the instructors at the class, which will provide the opportunity for each student to construct and decorate a wreath.

Students will receive a free Extension Service publication on wreathmaking, and should bring the following supplies to the workshop: 12 feet of ribbon, in width and color of their choice, scissors, wire clothes hanger, ¾-pound bunch of florist's wire, and clippers, if available. Greens will be supplied.

Space is limited and pre-registration is required. To enroll, call the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education Office, 824-2780. A small registration fee will be charged.

West Greenwood

By CAROLYN COLBY

The snowstorm of Thursday was, as always, too much, too soon. There has been an increase in traffic due to hunters and woodsmen but most of our people have stayed close to home during the week.

On Saturday, Gloria Wilson went to Bangor to attend the baptism of her grandson Joshua and celebrate son Steve's birthday.

Rita and Jodie Wilson were shopping at the Maine Mall on Saturday and visited Mindy Wilson at USM.

Edith Deegan, South Woodstock, spent Monday afternoon with Irene Wilson.

The stage production, "The Price of Freedom," to be put on by Telstar High and Middle School was cancelled last Thursday evening due to the storm. They are going to try again this Wednesday evening, Nov. 12. The Legion members are planning to attend.

No one in this area, that I know of, is in favor of a tire dump on the Rabbit Road. Not only are they unsightly but also are non biodegradable and a fire hazard.

Songo Pond

By ALICE KIMBALL

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Awalt of Augusta and friends were last Saturday visitors of her mother, Mrs. Elmira Doyen.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kimball left Wednesday morning to spend the winter at their home in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lescault and little Mark were Sunday dinner guests of his parents in West Paris. Mark Jr. also spent the day Tuesday there while his parents went to vote and picked him up later.

I had to go to Rumford for my blood test Friday morning and then went to Norway and then had lunch with my daughter in Otisfield. Happy birthday five year old Jonathan Bean!

Mr. and Mrs. William Bancroft were in Portland Friday for Bill's appointment with his rheumatologist.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Halle, Greg, and a friend were overnight visitors Friday of the Bancrofts.

Robert Anderson visited the Laurence Kimballs at Maine Medical Center one day this week.

Famed folk group performs at Telstar Saturday, Nov. 22

A dazzling array of folk songs and dances from all over the world will be performed by the Boston-based Mandala Folk Dance Ensemble Saturday, Nov. 22, at 7:30 p.m., at Telstar Regional High School.

"Mandala" takes its audiences on a world tour, from the swirling skirts and fast-paced tap steps of Mexico to the intricately embroidered costumes and bouncy dances of the Yugoslavian countryside. The mood ranges from the serious inward focus of an athletic Greek dance to the humor of a traditional dance skit from Quebec.

Mandala's 1986-87 program also includes premieres of six pieces, from a charming Chinese ribbon dance to a high-spirited Israeli "hora" to a suite of Hungarian dances choreographed for the company by Sandor Timar, artistic director of the Hungarian State Folk Ensemble.

Other stops on this holiday-around-the-globe include Romania, Chile, Russia, Spain and Bulgaria. And, of course, the program would not be complete without a trip home, with the footstomping exuberance of Appalachian fiddling and clogging.

"Mandala," whose name means "circle of life" in Sanskrit, has grown steadily since its beginning in 1965. The company now gives 30 concerts a year in colleges and concert series throughout the northeast and beyond, including performances at the Jacob's Pillow Festival, Carnegie Hall, the Brooklyn Center for the Performing Arts, and New York City's Harbor Festival.

In recent years, Mandala has also represented the country at the International Festival des Pyrenees, in Oloron, France; at Quebec's World Folklore Festival; and at the Rattviksdansen International Folk Festival, in Sweden.

As a performing group, Mandala has a well-deserved reputation for color, excitement and precision. As the Boston Globe has commented: "Mandala reminds us that submergence of self in a group effort can produce dance that is as exciting as any superstar's grand jete...They achieve a dynamic and spiritual harmony rare on any stage...inciting the audience to wild applause."

The performance is sponsored by the Mahoosuc Arts Council, with the generous support of the founding sponsors: The Bethel Inn, the Bethel Savings Bank, P.H. Chadbourne and Co., Gordon Gillies P.A., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Penley, and the family of Leslie B. Otten. The program is also funded, in part, by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Bingham Betterment Fund and the Maine Arts Commission, through the N.E. Foundation for the Arts.

Ticets are $3 for adults, $1 for children, or $6 for admission to the performance and reception following. For more information, call 824-3306.

Next session of N.E. and constitution series Wednesday, Nov. 19

"The Invention of Republican Womanhood: Women and Family in the New Nation" will be the featured topic of the next session (Wednesday, Nov. 19) in the series, New England and the Constitution. Sponsored by the New England Library Association and the New England Foundation for the Humanities, the series is held in Bethel at the Bethel Library every second Wednesday beginning at 7:30 p.m. This session will deal with the status of women in the new nation and will provide a case study of the larger issue of majority rule and minority rights. The debate over women's rights that accompanied the establishment of republican self-government is a compelling study in itself, but it illustrates as well the larger question of the definition of citizenship in republican government. The texts for this session are Linda Kerber's Women of the Republic: Intellect and Ideology in Revolutionary America and Hannah Foster's The Coquette. These may be picked up on loan from the Bethel Library. Historian Stanley R. Howe of the Bethel Historical Society will make a brief presentation on this subject and this will be followed by a discussion. Anyone wishing to attend is cordially invited to do so. The series is free and open to anyone wishing to participate. For further information, please call the Bethel Library at 824-2520.

Gorham planning 'Old Fashion Christmas Village'

Excitement is growing amongst the Gorham, N.H., business community as plans for their first "Old Fashioned Christmas Village" accelerate. A generous donation from Berlin City Ford guarantees that Main Street will sport Christmas decorations for the first time in many years. Santa has accepted an invitation to be guest of honor in the parade on Dec. 5 and will officiate in the lighting of the common. It is also rumored that there might be fireworks in honor of his arrival.

Plans for a Christmas dance have been confirmed for all area teens from grades 9 through 12 at the Gorham High School gym following the Santa Parade on Dec. 5 from 9 to 11. Radio station WMR is hosting this affair and will provide a DJ.

Donations from local businesses to the Gorham Youth Hockey Association will be used to purchase new Christmas lighting and decorations for the common. In exchange for these donations members of the Gorham Youth Hockey are giving of their time and energy to assist local merchants with decorating their store fronts.

Local church and civic groups will be caroling throughout the village during the holiday season starting on Dec. 5. Plans are being formalized to provide sleigh rides on the common each Saturday in December to coincide with Santa's visiting hours. The information booth will be magically transformed into a workshop for Santa where he will be available to all children. Another festive touch will be Christmas music piped throughout the village.

Participating merchants will remain open on parade night until midnight and at that time will kick-off their "Candy Cane Promotion" which culminates on Dec. 24 with the awarding of a $500 savings bond to some lucky shopper. There will be many more surprises and treats in store for Gorham holiday shoppers during this period as each participating merchant provides their individual Christmas in-store promotions.

Plan to enjoy a nostalgic old-fashion Christmas celebration as Gorham puts a shine on Christmas.

Public hearing on CPS addition Nov. 24 at Telstar lecture hall

On Monday, Nov. 24, at 7 p.m., SAD #44 will conduct a public hearing in the lecture hall at Telstar Regional High School concerning a proposed construction project of building an addition to the Crescent Park School in Bethel.

Additional space at Crescent Park School would allow all Bethel area kindergarten through grade six students to be housed in one facility instead of three. The additional space would also allow for a multipurpose room, a library, and special education rooms to be housed within the main facility instead utilizing space in hallways, portable classroom units and at Gould Academy.

The hearing is being held to determine the public support for this construction project at Crescent Park School. A straw vote will be conducted at this hearing.

A REMEMBRANCE

Ronald Lippitt, Professor Emeritus, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, resident of 1916 Cambridge Street, Ann Arbor.

A remembrance of a summer neighbor:

Two weeks ago, one of Bethel's staunchest friends and supporters died in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Ronald Lippitt came to Bethel first in the summer of 1947 as one of the three founders of the National Training Laboratories for Applied Behavioral Sciences, returned faithfully and enthusiastically each following summer through 1986.

It was during this past summer which Ron had decided would be his last active participating season here, that his friend and associate of many years, Ms. Nancie Coan, administrator for NTL, and Joe Potts, outgoing president of NTL, gathered many of Ron's long-time associates and admirers for an informal afternoon of reminiscing in celebration of the 40 summers of NTL—and of the summer of 1946 when the idea of NTL was piloted in Groton, Conn.

His associates in the NTL venture were Dr. Kenneth Benne, and the late Dr. Leland Bradford.

Dr. Lippitt was on the faculty of the University at Ann Arbor from 1948 until he retired early in 1974. In recent years he had centered much activity on Futuring—a process of anticipating and planning for groups to make transitions to the future. He held a session on Futuring for our local community officials and other interested in planning to meet future needs in the Bethel area, just before leaving Bethel in August.

Since returning to Ann Arbor this fall, he had completed his portion of a new text on Futuring in collaboration with two associates. Other projects which include a training group, will continue under guidance of colleagues.

Dr. Lippitt had been in ill health during the past two years, but had remained very active and creative. On Tuesday, Oct. 28, he had worked during the morning on a Futuring project at his home, and died later that day at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital.

His children, who survive him, are Larry Lippitt, Carolyn McCarthy, Martha Lippitt, and Connie Cohn, and nine grandchildren.

During the two score years of his pilgrimages to Bethel, the station wagon with the Michigan plates and canoe on top had become familiar trademarks. Bethel had been home during the summer for his family, including his wife, Peggy, who operated the NTL day camp Sunlight. Although he was an outstanding professional in his field, with world-wide recognition, he was a gentle summer neighbor here.

Memorial services for Dr. Lippitt will be held Nov. 22, at Eastern University in Ypsilanti, Mich.
